Please join us for Public Health Grand Rounds:

The Road to Hell is Paved with Adjustments

Professor Jay Kaufman

April 25, 2019    2:00-3:00 PM
BRFII 2A03 CONFERENCE ROOM

Jay S. Kaufman holds a doctorate in epidemiologic science from the University of Michigan, with prior experience as a post-doc at Loyola Stritch School of Medicine, and as a Medical Epidemiologist at Carolinas Medical Center (Charlotte, NC). He has previously served as an Assistant and Associate Professor at the University of North Carolina School of Public Health at Chapel Hill, and as a Faculty Fellow of the Carolina Population Center. Dr. Kaufman is currently a Professor and Research Chair in Health Disparities in the Department of Epidemiology, Biostatistics and Occupational Health at McGill University, Canada. He is also appointed as a Visiting Professor in the School of Public Health of the University of Chile, a Visiting Associate Professor in the Department of Epidemiology at University of Michigan School of Public Health (Ann Arbor), and an Adjunct Professor Department of Epidemiology, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. He is an Editor of the journal Epidemiology and an Associate Editor at the American Journal of Epidemiology. With J. Michael Oakes, he co-edited the textbook Methods in Social Epidemiology, and has over 200 peer-reviewed journal publications. Dr. Kaufman’s work focuses on social epidemiology, analytic methodology, causal inference and on a variety of health outcomes, including perinatal outcomes and cardiovascular, psychiatric and infectious diseases.

Please register online (free):
https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/KaufmanPHGR