All UCSD Students, Faculty, and Staff are welcome to attend

When: Wednesday, October 29, 2014, at 6:30 p.m.

Where: Multipurpose Room on the 1st floor of the Student Services Center

Introduction:
Dr. Bess Marcus, Senior Associate Dean for Public Health, UC San Diego School of Medicine

Panelists:
Dr. Angela Scioscia, Chief Medical Officer, UC San Diego Health System
Dr. Francesca Torriani, Medical Director, Infection Prevention and Clinical Epidemiology, UC San Diego Health System
Dr. Karen Calfas, Executive Director, UC San Diego Student Health and Well-being

Please join UC San Diego School of Medicine and UC San Diego Health System faculty for a panel presentation on Ebola awareness and response. There continues to be no Ebola cases in San Diego County, but it is crucial that we take a proactive approach to educate ourselves and our community about this public health challenge.

During this information session, the panel will talk about the biology of the disease and related symptoms, share the current response plan, guided by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and discuss the public health impact of this disease.

We encourage you to please come with questions you have regarding Ebola.

Refreshments will be provided.

This event is co-sponsored by UC San Diego Department of Family and Preventive Medicine, UC San Diego Health System and UC San Diego Student Health and Well-being.
